

Trees for Global Benefits: the Analysis of a Smallholder PES Project in Uganda

Trees for Global Benefits: de analyse van een PES project met boeren in Oeganda

Promotors:

Dr. Bruno Verbist
Department of Earth and Environmental Sciences
Division of Forest, Nature and Landscape

Prof. Miet Maertens
Department of Earth and Environmental Sciences
Division of Bioeconomics

Dissertation presented in Fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of Master of Science in Agro- and Ecosystems Engineering

Sanne Baeten

June 2018

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

There are a number of people that have supported me during the writing process of this dissertation. First and foremost, I would like to thank my promotor Bruno Verbist and my supervisor Koen Vanderhaegen for their guidance, input and revision work. I would like to thank co-promotor Miet Maertens for helping me find the right direction in my research. Next I want to express my gratitude towards the Busitema University team for their expertise and assistance during field work: Prof. Moses Isabirye, John Sekajugo, Mary Awori Immaculate and Zerubabeeli Naturinda. This study would not have been possible without funding from the Belspo EVAMAB and the VLIR-UOS Surelive projects. Sigrid, you are an angel for revising my English and you deserve the largest bunch of tulips I can find!

On a more personal note, I am infinitely grateful for all the support of my parents, brother Jeroen and sister Inez. Even when I doubt everything that I am doing, you will always have faith in me and motivate me to go on. Believing in myself is not one of my greatest strengths, but you never seem to think twice about it. Whether it is by doing something small like a simple text message, or something bigger like driving to Leuven to bring fresh clothes, you have helped me through the sometimes difficult moments of studying at university. At the same time, you allowed me to enjoy student life and therefore I send a heartfelt thanks to mama and papa for letting me live by myself and learn to be independent.

Gratitude also to the wonderful (ex-)leaders and members of Akabe Albatros, you are what makes scouting amazing. If there was ever a moment in the past months I was not stressing about my dissertation on some level, it was when I was having the time of my life in the Pijpelbos. You guys allow me to let out all of my energy and dress up in the craziest outfit. Responsibility does not mean being dull, because hard work always comes with joking around. For the past seven years, I have learned immeasurable life lessons and still when I put my uniform on, I instantly feel at home. Shout out to my Givers, you are a magnificent group and I am proud to organise our camp to Austria with and for you.

Lastly, I have been blessed with the most incredible group of friends, you guys made my time in Leuven so amazing. Katrien, after our adventures in Vienna we went to Uganda together, and I would not have wanted to travel there with anyone but you. Pieter, you were the first friend I have made in Leuven and your wisdom and kindness still mean the world to me. Stijn, gratitude for your cheerfulness and endless pranks. Kobe and Rob, thanks for the deep talks and the overall silliness in between. Jana, our inside jokes have been a highlight these last few weeks. Renz, you are a machine and such a sweet guy at the same time. Anke, thanks for being a great roommate. Maries, I love your honesty and your desserts. Sam, you are the first aid kit and the mixed tape in a crazy road trip. On to the next adventure!

Sanne Baeten